(109) Miranda London and Rion Gronberg.

Claim No. 109004, filed on September 19, 2022—amended timely Claim No. 64762, filed on October 21, 2019.

On October 21, 2019, Ms. Miranda London submitted a pro se, Claim No. 64762. At the time Ms. London submitted this claim, she was unaware of the claims process and the requirement to submit a claims questionnaire. She does not recall submitting a claims questionnaire, nor did she receive any funds from the FVT on account of her claim. Mr. Rion Gronberg, her partner, was not included on Claim No. 64762.

Ms. London and Mr. Gronberg resided at the real property located at 2200 Calistoga Road, Santa Rosa, CA 95404, where they resided during the North Bay Fires. During the fires, they were required to evacuate their home. As a result of their displacement, they suffered substantial personal damages, nuisance, and emotional distress—due to proximity of the zone of danger.

Due to substantial trauma relating to the fires, they were unaware of the claims process and how to recover from the FVT. In fact, Ms. London does not even remember submitting a claim. As such, they recently retained counsel and filed Claim No. 109004 on September 19, 2022—which includes Mr. Gronberg.

Ms. London and Mr. Gronberg are requesting authorization from the Court that the late (amended) claim be accepted as timely and that they be authorized to submit a claims questionnaire for damages arising from the claims for emotional distress and nuisance—and include Mr. Gronberg as a party to the claim.

Claim No. 109015, filed on September 19, 2022—amended timely Claim No. 6685, filed on August 12, 2019.

On August 12, 2019, David Innerdale Coar and Cecile Yvonne Coar submitted a pro se, Claim

No. 6685, claim for “$504” for “economic damages” (as opposed to “non-economic damages”). At the time the Coar family submitted this claim, they had no knowledge of other possible claims, nor were they aware that other possible claims (i.e. emotional distress and nuisance) might be compensable through the FVT. The Coar family was aware of the existence of any possible claims (or compensability for any possible claims) for emotional distress and/or nuisance.

The Coar family owned the real property located at 7014 Oakmont Drive, Santa Rosa, CA 95409, where they resided during the North Bay Fires. During the fires, they were required to evacuate their home. As a result of their displacement, they suffered substantial personal damages, nuisance, and emotional distress—due to proximity of the zone of danger.

Due to substantial trauma relating to the fires, the Coar family was unaware that these other and separate damages/injuries might be compensable whatsoever. The Coar family only recently learned (from friends and family) in September of 2022 that claims for emotional distress and nuisance might be compensable. As such, they retained counsel and filed Claim No. 109015 on September 19, 2022.

The Coar family is requesting authorization from the Court that the late (amended) claim be accepted as timely and that they be authorized to submit a claims questionnaire for damages arising from the unknown claims for emotional distress and nuisance.

(131) Yvonne Spencer, Gregory Lucchesi, Jeanita Jennings, and Justin Jennings.

Claim No. 109034, filed on September 19, 2022—amended timely Claim No. 95752, filed on December 31, 2019.

On December 31, 2019, Ms. Yvonne Spencer submitted a pro se, Claim No. 95752. At the time Ms. Spencer submitted this claim, she was unaware of the claims process and the requirement to submit a claims questionnaire. She does not recall submitting a claims questionnaire, nor did she receive any funds from the FVT on account of her claim. The family living with her (Gregory Lucchesi, Jeanita Jennings, and Justin Jennings) were not included on Claim No. 95752.

The family resided at the real property located at 1325 Cashew Road, Santa Rosa, CA 95403, where they resided during the North Bay Fires. During the fires, they were required to evacuate their home—which was ultimately lost in the fires, as well as all of the family’s personal belongings. Ms. Spencer was underinsured. Moreover, as a result of their displacement and losses, they suffered substantial personal damages, nuisance, and emotional distress—due to proximity of the zone of danger.

Due to substantial trauma relating to the fires and losses, they were unaware of the claims process and how to recover from the FVT. In fact, Ms. Spencer does not even remember submitting a claim. As such, the claimants recently retained counsel and filed Claim No. 109034 on September 19, 2022—which includes Mr. Gronberg.

The claimants are requesting authorization from the Court that the late (amended) claim be accepted as timely and that they be authorized to submit a claims questionnaire for damages arising from the claims for emotional distress and nuisance and being underinsured.

Claim No. 109037, filed on September 19, 2022—amended timely Claim No. 55174, filed on October 9, 2019.

On October 9, 2019, Quyen Hoang, Douglas Chiu, Alaina Chiu, and Jonathan Chiu submitted a pro se, Claim No. 55174, claim for “food”. At the time claimants submitted this claim, they had no knowledge of other possible claims, nor were they aware that other possible claims (i.e. emotional distress and nuisance) might be compensable through the FVT.

The family owned the real property located at 1573 Jainine Street, Santa Rosa, CA 95493, where they resided during the North Bay Fires. During the fires, they evacuated their home. As a result of their displacement, they suffered substantial personal damages, nuisance, and emotional distress—due to proximity of the zone of danger.

Due to substantial trauma relating to the fires, the family was unaware that these other and separate damages/injuries might be compensable whatsoever. The family only recently learned in September of 2022 that claims for emotional distress and nuisance might be compensable. As such, she retained counsel and filed Claim No. 109037 on September 19, 2022.

The family is requesting authorization from the Court that the late (amended) claim be accepted as timely and that they be authorized to submit a claims questionnaire for damages arising from the unknown claims for emotional distress and nuisance.

Claim No. 109245, filed on September 27, 2022—amending Claim No. 55367, filed on October 14, 2019.

On October 14, 2019, Mr. Joey Ross Burtner submitted a pro se, Claim No. 55367, claim for business disruption and economic damages relating to “Zen Electric,” his business. At the time Mr. Burtner submitted this claim, he had no knowledge of other possible claims, nor was he aware that other possible claims (i.e. emotional distress and nuisance) might be compensable through the FVT. Mr. Burtner was not aware of the existence of any possible claims (or compensability for any possible claims) for emotional distress and/or nuisance (and/or any other non-economic damages).

Mr. Burtner rented the real property located at 1024 Modoc Drive, Santa Rosa, CA 95403, where he resided during the North Bay Fires. During the fires, he was required to evacuate his home. As a result of his displacement, he suffered substantial personal damages, nuisance, and emotional distress—due to proximity of the zone of danger.

Due to substantial trauma relating to the fires, Mr. Burtner was unaware that these other and separate damages/injuries might be compensable whatsoever. Mr. Burtner only recently learned in August/September of 2022 that claims for emotional distress and nuisance might be compensable. As such, he retained counsel and filed Claim No. 109245 on September 27, 2022. Mr. Burtner is requesting authorization from the Court that the late (amended) claim be accepted as timely and that he be authorized to submit a claims questionnaire for damages arising from the unknown claims for emotional distress and nuisance.
